

THE RUMFORD CITIZEN.

VOLUME II.—NUMBER 11.

RUMFORD FALLS, MAINE, SEPTEMBER 26, 1907.

PRICE THREE CENTS.

A CRAZY MAN

Isrobes in View of Passers-By. Opposite Electric Light Station, Friday, P. M., Sept. 20.

Same Man seen last Summer on the Swain Road, Where He Frightened Women and Girls.

In the issue of the CITIZEN Sept. 6, I gave an account of a man who had been acting in an indecent manner on the Swain Road. It has come to our notice that a man answering to the same description has been appearing in the woods along the Swain Road and last Friday night as several girls, living in the neighborhood, were going home from the Pettengill School the man showed himself on the hill, nearly opposite the electric light station on the Falls Road in a nude condition. There were three girls in the group whose ages ranged from 15 to 17 years. The parents of one of the girls was seen by the CITIZEN man and he was told the following story.

"My little girl has seen the man several times and so have other girls in the neighborhood. He showed himself to them last summer on the path through the woods to the Pettengill school house that goes from the Swain Road. He then stood at one side of the path and stripped off his clothing and looked at the girls, who ran, some towards the schoolhouse and others back to the road. The man did not chase and the only sounds he made were rough and whistles. The chief police was then notified, and is reported to have said that the man was very dangerous. A sharp lookout was kept for him but he was careful not to be in sight when there was any danger.

The return of the man as soon as school began shows that he is determined to continue his crazy actions and the parents of the scholars that go to the Pettengill and Chisholm schools are very much disturbed.

The girls have seen the man near enough and times enough, so they feel sure they can identify him if given the chance. The brow of the hill opposite the Electric Light station is a place where the fellow can easily attract attention. When it suits his purpose he can stand in the open and almost instantly disappear in the bushes if any one comes along that might make trouble for him. It is no easy or quick job to climb up the bank anywhere along the road, and if a man should get the chance to pursue him he would be at a great disadvantage, for the fellow could get a long distance into the woods before his pursuer could get onto firm ground.

No doubt he will be captured soon. Such a character at large is a menace to the community.

Two children lost in woods. Saturday afternoon Little Robert Douglass, son of George Douglass and Susan Milledge, little son of F. P. Milledge went into the woods near their home in Virginia and got lost.

The neighborhood was aroused when it was found that the children had not returned as night approached. A woman of the neighborhood saw them early in the afternoon and spoke to them and they said they were going after bears. Douglass and Mr. Milledge went all over the woods on the hill and failed to find any traces of them. None of the neighbors found any signs of them. After a continuous hunt of nearly five hours, and as the prospect of finding the lost boys seemed small, the parents were made glad by seeing two little shavers trudging the street towards home.

They were pretty well tired out and had little idea where they had been. After getting on the right pathway home was apparently an accident. Douglass asked his boy if he did not want to cry when he found they were lost. "No, but I asked Normy a question and he spoke in a faint voice that was almost a cry."

Wanted Waldo Street graded. The property owners on Waldo street when the street was laid out was understood that it would be graded some time in the near future. With that understanding the buildings were put up in a manner that would permit basements to be built for cars and on a level with the street and it was graded. They are now deploring that the work of grading be done.

The street from Maine Ave. to Oxford Ave. needs to be graded down about four feet to make the road bed level and if it is done next spring the street will, by fall show such improvements that people will be astonished, so say the merchants and property owners.

It would be a great benefit to that section to have the proposed improvements carried out and it also would be credit to the town.

Coulombe-Siroix. John Coulombe and Miss Eva Siroix were married at St. John's Baptist church at 10 o'clock Monday morning. They went to Berlin, N. H. and will visit other places in that State. They will make their home in Rumford Falls where they are both well known and have many friends.

Witt's Little Early Risers are good for anyone who needs a pill. They are safe, sure, little pills that do not hurt or sicken. Sold by Bowers Valley.

NATIONS THAT KNOW NOT CHRIST WILL BE SAVED.

Is the Belief of Rev. Harold Hanson, as declared by Him in Sunday's Sermon at the Baptist Church.

He Urges the Support of Missionaries for the Moral Good of Heathen People, Whom He Says Are of Low Morality.

At the Baptist church last Sunday morning, the pastor Rev. Harold L. Hanson delivered an eloquent discourse, the subject being: "What has the world done to expect of the churches of Rumford?" His text was from the first chapter of Romans, fourteenth verse: "I am debtor to the Jews and to the Greeks and to the wise and the unwise."

Mr. Hanson said in part: "Last Sunday we discussed the question, 'What have the people of Rumford Falls a right to expect of the churches of Rumford Falls?' We concluded that they had a right to expect them to make the people more Christian. Today we broaden out and consider the idea of bringing the whole world to Christ. There are many, some who are and some who are not Christians, who will agree that the churches should do their duty to the whole world, as well as to the place or country in which they are located. After we have done our duty by the territory bounded by Roxbury, Andover, Dixfield, and Peru, we have a duty to perform to the outside world.

"I know that we have many religious problems here. We are a new town and many of our people are without homes, and it is true that the churches are not doing all they ought to. There are large numbers not touched by any moral or religious teachings. The same condition was present with the first church at Jerusalem. Have we christianized the old Jewish stronghold? Have we brought that ancient city under the sway of Jesus? Not by any means. Why did the early Christians go out and spread the gospel to other places before they conquered their own city? They preached to the whole world that it might be evangelized.

A man setting fire to a field of dry stubble does not rest when he has kindled a fire in one place; he sets the fire going in many places and then the whole field becomes quickly in flames. The success of the effort does not depend upon the fire in one place, which might go out.

If we waited until we had evangelized our own place we might go on until doomsday and not make any progress towards evangelizing the world. A doctrine may pour but cold water upon an enterprise; it may check it; or may stimulate it. Paul came to the knowledge that salvation was not for the Jews alone, then he began to preach to the Jews and the Greeks, to the wise and the unwise.

"If Jesus Christ died for the whole world then nothing but the whole world will do. Are we not in danger of becoming as selfish as the Jews? We are not Christians because we were born in this prosperous and christian country. Are we to settle down and let the rest of the world go?"

Paul realized that his nation had been selfish and that the Jews were a was driven out doors.

When he saw that I was trying to take the goods down stairs he came back in and he and his wife got on the stairs and as I could not get the goods down stairs and keep them out of the way at the same time, I did telephone for help and officers Merrill and Violette came and then we did have a fight, but there was no axe in use at that time.

As far as any personal danger was concerned, I was in none at any time as all I had to do was to leave the building at any time during the trouble, but this I refused to do until I got the goods.

THE PETTINGILL COMPANY TWICE WINNERS.

At Boothbay Harbor, on the First Regiment Field day occasion, the Pettengill Company U. R. K. P., No. 29, of Rumford, for the second time were winners in the tug of war, the prize for which is the silver cup. The same company must win it three years in succession to become permanent possessors of it. It was in their keeping last year, and of course will be for the coming year. Let us hope they may be fortunate next year, and close the contest.

The Lewiston Company first contested with the Boothbay Harbor Company, and defeated them, and then the Company went down in defeat before the Rumford Falls boys. Then the Lewiston Company and the Rumford Company fought for the final victory, and the paper town was too much for the cotton city.

STRIVING FOR QUALITY

There is one thing noticeable in this town that gives the CITIZEN much satisfaction, for it is just what it advocates, and that is an effort to improve the quality of everything. The latest thing in that direction is the introduction of "Quality Chocolates" by the Cote Pharmacy. Last Saturday, Mr. Cowan placed those celebrated confections on sale and made a very handsome window display, showing the goods in boxes of many unique and original designs. The display attracted much attention and a large quantity was sold. The prices range from 55 to 85 cents per pound.

J. F. HALL'S HOUSE DAMAGED IN TUESDAY'S STORM.

The gale that swept through this valley, Tuesday afternoon, about three o'clock, lifted the roof that had been built over a wood pile on the south side of J. F. Hall's farm house East Rumford, and carried it with such force against the house that the windows were broken. The wood was strewn about, and boards from the opposite side of the road were blown against the front of the house and broke window glass. The damage is estimated at about $50.

DeWitt's Carbolicized Witch Hazel Salve is good for boils, burns, cuts, scalds and skin diseases. It is especially good for piles. Sold by Bowers Valley Co.

FOUND VALUABLE PEARLS. Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Melcher and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Morrison spent a few days early in the week camping and pearl fishing in an Oxford County Stream. Mrs. Melcher opened a bivalve which contained a ten grain pearl, which is of great value and which will be set in a ring. Mr. Morrison found a pearl equally fine but smaller which is valued at $50.00.

SEWING MACHINE CONTEST. Mr. Len. Stephens was the fortunate man to get the sewing machine that some one was bound to get at McDonald's Saturday night, having 231 coupons.

THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 26, 1907.

One of the most encouraging signs of the times that has come to our notice recently is the fact that in reporting the fearful railroad accident at Canaan, N. H. the newspapers made no mention of the property loss. For once the material and money considering mind was sufficiently affected with the awfulness of the catastrophe to forget to make the financial loss any part of the account. We call attention to this for the reason that it is the first time that we have noticed the omission of that feature of the report of a railroad accident; and also because it is a sign that the human mind is beginning to recover from the idea that property value is of more importance than life; or is worthy to be considered when human life is at stake.

Every day we read of murders by adults and unless it is almost in our door yards we pass the item without a remark. But when we hear of a murder committed by a lad we at once become horrified and disclaim against the degeneracy of the times. Why? It is because we do not reflect deeply enough upon the causes and effects of things of life. The most natural thing to think is that so long as murders among adults are common, they should be far more common among the immature youths. It should follow that as the mind grows in wisdom and experience it would improve upon the mind of childhood. The fact that immorals and the control of the evil impulses adults are inferior to youths opens up a wide field for investigation. One of the first conclusions is that as the natural and logical thing does not happen, there must be some powerful unnatural cause that has interfered with the intended course of life's development. Perhaps some of our local preachers will attempt a solution of the problem.

MORALS, POLITICS, AND RUM MIXED.

For a week or ten days there was hardly any business before the municipal court at Rumford Falls. The absence of the ordinary cases of drunks has led to the thought that the tightening of the beer spigots about the town is responsible for the absence of drunkenness. No doubt that is true. We have no objections to the faucets being plugged up for ever and heartily wish that there was not a liquor drinker in town.

When there occurs a drought without warning to the drinkers, there will always follow a short spell of sobriety. These droughts are only a feature of the non-enforcement policy. There will be a reaction when they (the users) get adjusted to the situation and reestablish a source of supply, or the local drought is broken. Then an increase of drunkenness will be our.

In spite of all the temperance lessons and the manifest benefit temperate living is to both the individual and the community, the fact that the drink is locally shut off in no sense makes the man who craves it any more amenable to the lessons of total abstinence.

The favorite and old time grandiloquent declamation of the temperance agitator (the writer has indulged in the same delusion) that men were struggling against a fearful appetite for liquor, and only yielded after a heart-rending battle in which Satan personally led the forces against each particular man, is an illusion.

CITIZEN SIGHTSEER.

The Sightseer sets up and takes notice of the efforts being made to ferret out the immoral practices of certain games of skill. He finds a man who attempts to give him the exact copy of a "Report" made in 1767 regarding a sinful game then in vogue in town. He gives the doc. But doubts its being true.

The Sightseer has been for some time observing that certain newspapers published in Oxford County are very much exercised over the report that small boys of ages not stated, but supposed to be between 25 and 50, are in the habit of visiting certain places where certain games of skill are played and risking their reputations and small sums of money. He has not paid any particular attention to the matter and would not now save for the fact that an old resident in speaking of the matter, mentioned that there was many years ago a similar agitation in the town and while it was before pool and billiards were introduced there was a game in vogue that became such a rage that the selectmen delegated a committee to investigate the matter, and their report was a remarkable document, and as well as I can remember it read as follows:

To the Honorable board of Selectmen of the Town.

Dec'r. ye 9 in ye yr. 1767.

We (yo'r committee) hereby make report of our findings in the matter in which we were commissioned by yo'r hon'r'ble Sirs—

To Wit: The committee visited a certain store or building used for the (as it appeared to yo'r committee) purpose of selling W. I. goods and sundry other necessities. We inquired for the keeper of the place (we well knew him for we had often bot W. I. rum and molasses from him) and were told that a certain man called Dick Lasgoud was the reputed owner of the place.

Yo'r committee (after having drunk a dish of N. E. rum each, which we are of the opinion, considering that it is less expensive, is as good as the liquor from the West Indies) took observations of ye place and ye patrons thereof. We found there a number of ye citizens of ye town and we also did find and so report to yo'r hon'r'ble Sirs, a certain game in progress, which we have no alternative in saying to be other than a sinful device to lure men away from their firesides and into the sinful expenditure of money (this later we know from experience, for yo'r committee was beaten in a game played with ye hon'r'ble Judge of Ye King's Bench and ye minister of ye gospel whose living is in this parish) for the great outcry in the community against the high taxes, that our Sovereign Lord the King and yo'r hon'r'ble Sirs have levied upon ye inhabitants, demand some drastic and virtuous action that shall divert and quiet the murmurings of ye said inhabitants.

This game is played by throwing rings, (made of good iron that might well be used for a better purpose) at a stake or pole, or failing to do that to have it fall as near the pole as possible. The losers (two players on a side) have to pay to the maintainer of the device the sum of threepence for every game lost. (yo'r Com'ty, lost the sum of four shillings which they have charged to yo'r hon'r'ble board, 'tho we are of the opinion that some enlightenment was exercised upon the rings to prevent them going over the pole, otherwise we should not have been worried; but notwithstanding the which we have engaged to play another game with the Esquire, the honorable Judge, and the pious man of God, hereinafter mentioned.)

We beg leave to report that there were sundry and divers inhabitants of ye town assembled at this place awaiting their turn at the game and it is the opinion of yo'r com'ty that the game is of sinful origin and serves an unholy cause (this yo'r com'ty believes is the report it was appointed to return to yo'r hon'r'ble Sirs) and we recommend that the device and implements of the game be seized according to ye law and ye Keeper of ye peace be warned to quit the parish forthwith. (Yo'r Com'ty suggests that the rum now in the possession of the said keeper of ye den of iniquity, which is of extra good quality and of sufficient quantity to supply the members of Yo'r Board and Yo'r com'ty with a winter's supply, also be seized upon some good and lawful pretext.

We beg leave to further report that this place is the congregating point for certain malecontents who belong to that miserable sect or party who are so lost to reason and good influences as to openly and defiantly deny the existence men who pose as enforcement and temperance advocates, and bask in the sunshine of real temperance peoples' favor as being of their kind, when the evidence is indisputable that political and not moral reasons govern their acts.

MANLY A. BRIGHAM.

Your new Fall clothes are ready for you now in our store and we are going to hold a special opening reception to introduce you to them. You're invited; and when you come you'll meet a lot of the finest clothes you ever saw. We feel that our good friends and our good clothes ought to know each other better.

These are Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes; and you can put it down as a fact that better clothes, more stylish, more perfectly tailored, never came from the hand of a tailor.

The new suits are in a number of very smart models, and the patterns are varied enough to suit every taste—grays, browns, tans, in stripes, plaids and checks.

The new Fall overcoats are certainly very snappy; you'll find your kind here. It is hardly necessary to say that Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes are always all-wool; you get no cotton mixture stuff under that name.

Other departments are full also of fine seasonal goods; hats on the latest blocks; shirts and neckwear like a regular flower-garden of color and rich design.

some doubts about it being an accurate copy either in substance or phrasing, but thinks it contains some hints that will amuse the people and cause some newspaper editors to take a tumble to themselves, if there are any who see any characters of our day and community in any way burling at the reference in the "report" to certain unlawful things that were "kicked at by the leading men, if the "report" had been at that period of time. Of course there is nothing now of that nature. There is no law here that is being broken with the connivance of the principal citizens. Of course not.

There are certain events that occurred in the early part of the last century in this town that was said (Littig's History of Rumford) to have involved certain leading men in a grave offense, that was brushed up and allowed to blow over, that might answer to the reference in the "report" to certain unlawful things that were "kicked at by the leading men, if the "report" had been at that period of time. Of course there is nothing now of that nature. There is no law here that is being broken with the connivance of the principal citizens. Of course not.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. D. LeBel were in Lewiston the first of the week. Mrs. LeBel will remain for several days and then go to Waterville where she will spend a week before returning home. Mr. LeBel returned Monday.

Dr. F. E. Bartlett was seen (much to the surprise of his friends) out on the road (pretty near home) in his automobile. The genial optician has been very choice of the machine since he has owned it.

Dan Locke, who was at one time employed in town, and who has been more lately with Knowlton & McLeary at Farmington, is now at Livermore Falls where he is employed by T. B. Look, who was also formerly located here.

Mrs. A. B. Fitzpatrick's sister from California has, while visiting here, been making trial use of an instrument to aid impaired hearing, and reports that it is so satisfactory that she is able to hear quite well. She has been deaf for many years.

Miss Louella Noyes left for Boston Monday in company with her sister, Evelyn. Miss Evelyn is resuming her studies at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and Miss Louella is entering for her first term. They are daughters of Dr. Laura F. Noyes.

Mrs. A. T. Ruff is on a month's visit to her former home in the Province. This is the first time in the 28 years of their married life that Mrs. Ruff has been away from home without Mr. Ruff. Mr. Ruff has been away several months at a time; but was never at home before when his wife was not there, and he says it seems so strange that he cannot realize it.

Miss Mabelle Hescok of Phillips spent Sunday in town.

The trees are beginning to show where the frost has touched them.

Will Hadley of Massachusetts is spending a vacation with his brother, John Hadley, the mail carrier.

Miss Leila Walker, is for a few days, a guest of her father, Fred O. Walker, of Congress street.

FOR SUMMER COMPLAINTS.

Dysentery, Diarrhea and Cramps
Cured by Simple Remedy.

At this season of the year, every home should have a bottle of Neuralgic Anodyne in the medicine-closet so that when anyone of the family is taken with diarrhea, dysentery, cramps or colic, this reliable remedy will be right at hand to give relief. There is nothing else known that so quickly eases pain and restores natural conditions to the stomach and bowels. A dose of two of Neuralgic Anodyne taken at the first symptoms will save days and weeks of suffering, perhaps even life itself. The value of Neuralgic Anodyne is not limited to these summer complaints, for the remedy is invaluable for all aches and pains in cases of neuralgia, headache, rheumatism, tooth-ache, bruises, sprains, cuts, etc. A large bottle costs but $1.00, and is sold by dealers everywhere with the understanding that the money will be refunded if the Anodyne does not do all that it claims to. Made by The Twitchell-Champlin Co., Portland, Me.

MEXICO AND RIDLONVILLE.

The Week's News as Gathered by our Special Correspondent.

On Thursday evening, Sept. 19th a party of about eighty met at the home of Miss Agnes Isbester for the purpose of serenading the bridal couple, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Austin. A merry party left Miss Isbester's home about 9:15 and quietly proceeded to Mr. J. R. Austin's home and after the crowd were placed beneath the chamber windows of the sleeping bride and groom toot-ti-toot, bang-it-i-whang, din-a ling, went the tin horns, pans and cow bells, accompanied by the Scottish Band.

After a time Mr. Austin made his appearance, finding it impossible to sleep in such a din, and invited the serenaders to enter. Mrs. Archer Packard acted as Mistress of ceremonies and the guests headed by Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Fisher, were introduced by Mrs. Packard to the bride and groom who received at the parlor entrance. After this Rev. J. G. Fisher in behalf of the guests, presented to Mr. and Mrs. Alton Austin two very handsome easy chairs, in his pleasing way to which Mr. Austin responded with a few well chosen words of thanks.

Refreshments consisting of bananas, grapes and candy were served, after which Mrs. Austin pleased the company with one of her well rendered piano selections. After a few moments of sociability all adjourned to a field nearby where a roaring fire was pouring forth its heat and two large baskets of J. R. Austin's splendid corn was waiting to be roasted.

After a delightful jolly time all adjourned to their homes at a late hour, after wishing Mr. and Mrs. Austin all sorts of good things.

The friends of Mr. Edwin H. Gleason will be glad to learn that the fever has turned and that he seems to be more comfortable.

Mrs. Hawley of Mechanic Falls, who is visiting Mrs. F. R. Kendall of Rumford Falls, was in town this week, calling on Mrs. W. N. Hodgdon, Mrs. Parsons and other friends.

We are glad to report that Mrs. W. N. Hodgdon is improving.

Mrs. D. S. Dickey is substituting at the Bissbee School of Rumford Falls, during the illness of Miss Allen.

Mr. Wm. E. Vandenberg returned Saturday from a visit to his son, Arthur at Mechanicville, N. Y. His daughter, Miss Edith, will return some time later.

Mrs. Emily Babb is now caring for Mrs. Ezekiah Holt, who is very ill.

One of the saddest things of the week is the severe illness of Miss Evelyn Pratt, the young daughter of Wm. Pratt of Mexico. The little girl had a fall on her upper lip and picked it with a pin and then scratched it with her finger nail, thereby causing blood poisoning. Two operations were necessary, but the child still lies between life and death with hardly an even chance for life and the hardest part of it is that the mother does not know how seriously ill her daughter is as she herself is confined to her bed with a baby but a few days old. A hard place for the father.

Mrs. Perry Oldham is very ill threatened with rheumatic fever.

Mr. Henry Park has purchased a dog, of which his friends are very much afraid of on account of his great size.

IS YOUR HORSE SICK?

If you are a Lesure patron your knowledge may save the life of a valuable animal.

My success as a veterinarian is largely due to the fact that I have proven the merit of my prescriptions upon my own horses as well as my clients'. The drugs from which Lesure's prescriptions are compounded are the purest and best—as good as any pharmacist would put into a prescription for you. That is why Lesure's Special Liniment is as good for man as for beast.

Owners of live stock should write me for my valuable little treatise, "The Care of Domestic Animals." I will mail it free. Lesure's Veterinary Stable Case, also, all animal owners should possess. It contains a full assortment of Lesure's veterinary medicines, the necessary tools to administer them, and a book giving symptoms of diseases. This will be sent anywhere in the world, carriage prepaid, for $5.00.

FRIDAY, THE 13th

By Thomas W. Lawson

I did not feel easy with Bob out of sight while he was sounding for a new footing. I went to Beulah Sands in hope we might talk over the affair, but when I told her that Bob was to be gone for a week and that I was uneasy, she said in her calm, confident manner: "I don't think there is anything to worry about, Mr. Randolph. Mr. Brownley is too much of a man to allow an affair of dollars to do anything more than annoy him. He will be back all the better for his rest." She dropped her long lashes in a conversation-closed way that we had come to know meant going time.

CHAPTER IV.

The following week Bob returned to the office. He had not changed, and yet he had changed greatly. Rest had apparently done much for him. His color was good, his step elastic as of old, and his head was thrown back as if he were buckled up for the fray and wanted all to know it. Yet there was something in the eye, in the setness of the jaw, in the half-trigger calm, yet fiercely savage grip in which he closed his strong hands on the arms of his chair, that told me more plainly than words that this was not the optimistic, soft-hearted Bob Brownley I had known and loved. I could not help feeling that if I had been a leader of the Russian terrorists, and this man who now sat before me had come to my ken when I was selecting bombthrowers, I should have seized upon him of all men as the one to stalk the czar or his marked minions. Surely the iron that had entered Bob's soul a week before had affected his whole being. I think Beulah Sands had some such thoughts. For I saw a shadow of perplexity cross her broad, low forehead after her first meeting with him, a shadow that had not been there before.

For days after Bob's return I saw little of him. I think Beulah Sands saw less. During stock exchange hours he spent most of his time on the floor, but he executed few of our orders. He merely looked them over and handed them out to his assistants. As far as I could learn, he spent much of his time there yesterday, through hope's graveyard, a not uncommon pastime for active exchange members whose first through specials have been open-switched by the "System" towerman. So strong had become this habit of going about from pole to pole with bent head and a far-off gaze that his fellow members began to humor and respect it. They all knew that Bob had gone up against the Sugar panic hard. No one knew how hard, but all guessed from his changed appearance and habits that it must have been a bone-smashing blow. Nothing so quickly and so deeply stirs a stock exchange man's feelings for his brother member as to know that "They" have ditched his El Dorado flyer—that is, if he has been a good fellow. They will humor his every whim and patiently await the day when he shall be again in normal condition; for all stock gamblers whom I ate, or the old hag's hunchback twin, the "System," has dumped, either remain below the surface or eventually round to. Every day as soon as the stock exchange closed, Bob disappeared, whether I could not learn. I had tried once or twice to draw him out, under pretense of insisting upon his accepting my wife's invitation to dine with us. He always had a ready excuse for me to take to Kate, but that was all. Apparently he had no idea that I took any interest in his movements after business hours.

As for Beulah Sands, there was but one change noticeable in her. Whenever a footstep stopped in front of her office she looked up from her work with an expectant, almost appealing gaze, as though she were always waiting for some one. I had not seen Bob in her office since that disastrous Sugar day, and as he went directly to the exchange every morning and left there every afternoon without returning to the office, doing all his business by messenger or over the wire, there was but little chance of his meeting her.

November 1st had come and gone, and the books showed no change in Beulah Sands' account. There was the poor little $30,000 balance; no other entries. One afternoon Beulah Sands had asked for a meeting between Bob and myself in her office. She could hardly have asked Bob to come without me, but I knew it was Bob she wanted to see, and I felt that the best thing I could do for them was to leave them alone. So I made some excuse for a moment's delay at my desk telling Bob to go into her office, and promising to follow shortly. He went in, leaving the door partly open. I think that from the moment he entered the room both of them utterly forgot my existence. From her desk Beulah could not see me, and Bob sat so that his back was half toward me. "I dislike to trouble you about my account," I heard her begin in a voice a trifle uneven, "but as I must go back to father Christmas week, I wanted to get your advice as to the advisability of writing him that, though there is still a chance for doing wonders, I do not think we shall be able to save him. Of course I won't put it in just that blunt way, but it seems to me I should begin to prepare him for the blow. I have not talked over any more plunging with you, Mr. Brownley, since the unlucky one in Sugar, and—"

"Miss Sands, I understand what you mean," Bob broke in, "and I should apologize for not having consulted with you about your business affairs. The fact is, I have not been quite clear as to the best thing to do. I hope you don't think I have forgotten. Never for a moment since I took charge of your affairs have I forgotten my promise to see that they were kept active. Truly I have been trying to think out some successful plunge, but—"

"There was a hoarseness in his voice—"I have not had my old confidence in myself since that day in Sugar when I killed your hopes and destroyed the chance of saving your father—no, I have not had that confidence a man must have in himself to win at this game."

There was a silence, and then I heard an indescribable fluttering rush that told as plainly as sight could have done that a woman had answered her heart's call. Looking up involuntarily, I saw a sight that for a long moment held my eyes as if I had been fascinated. It was Bob bowed forward with his face hidden in his hands and heade him, on her knees, Beulah Sands, her arms about his neck, his head drawn down to her bosom. "Bob, Bob," she said, chokingly, "I cannot stand it any longer. My heart is breaking for you. You were so happy when I came into your life, and the happiness is changed to misery and despair, and all for me, a stranger. At first I thought of nothing but father and how to save him, but since that day when those men struck at your heart, I have to tell of the black goblins that have been pursuing it. Long before she had finished speaking—and it took only a few heart-beats for that rush of words—I had broken the power of the fascination that held me, had turned away my eyes, and tried not to listen. For fear of breaking the spell, I did not dare cross the room to close Beulah's door or to reach the outer door of my office, which was nearer hers than it was to my desk. I waited—through a silence, broken only by Beulah's weeping, that seemed hour-long. Then in Bob's voice came one low sob of joy:

"Beulah, Beulah, my Beulah!"

I realized that he had risen. I rose, too, thinking that now I could close the door. But again I saw a picture that transfixed me. Bob had taken Beulah by both shoulders and he held her off and looked into her eyes long and beseechingly. Never before nor since have I seen upon human face that glorious joy which the old masters sought to get into the faces of their worshippers who, kneeling before Christ, tried to send to Him, through their eyes, their souls' gratitude and love. I stood as one enthralled. Slowly and as reverently as the living lover touches the brow of his dead wife, Bob bent his head and kissed her forehead. Again and again he drew her to him and implanted upon her brow and eyes and lips his kisses. I could not stand the scene any longer. I started to the corridor door, and then, as though for the first time either had known I was within hearing, they turned and stared at me. At last Bob gave a long, deep sigh, then one of those reluctant laughs of happiness yet wet with sob.

"Well, Jim, dear old Jim, where do you come from? Like all eavesdroppers, you have heard no good of yourself. Own up, Jim, you did not hear a word good or bad about yourself, for it is just coming back to me that we have been selfish, that we have left you entirely out of our business conference."

We all laughed, and Beulah Sands, with her face a bloom of burning blushes, said: "Mr. Randolph, we have not settled what it is best to do about father's affairs."

After a little we did begin to talk business, and finally agreed that Beulah should write her father, wording her letter as carefully as possible to avoid all direct statements, but showing him that she had made but little headway on the work she had been filled with, oh! such a longing to tell you, to tell you, Bob."

"What? Beulah, what? For the love of God, don't stop; tell me, Beulah, tell me." He had not lifted his head. It was buried on her breast, his arms closed around her. She bent her head and laid her beautiful, soft cheek, down which the tears were now streaming, against his brown hair.

"Bob, forgive me, but I love you, love you, Bob, as only a woman can love who has never known love before, never known anything but stern duty. Bob, night after night when all have left I have crept into your office and sat in your chair. I have laid my head on your desk and cried and cried until it seemed as though I could not live till morning without hearing you say that you loved me, and that you did not mind the ruin I had brought into your life. I have patted the back of your chair where your dear head had rested. I have covered the arms of your chair, that your strong, brave hands had gripped with kisses. Night after night I have knelt at your desk and prayed to God to shield you, to protect you from all harm, to brush away the black cloud I brought into your life. I have asked Him to do with me, yes, with my father and mother, anything, anything if only He would bring back to you the happiness I had stolen. Bob, I have suffered, suffered, as only a woman can suffer."

She was sobbing as though her heart would break, sobbing wildly, convulsively, like the little child who is the night of a mother's bed come north to accomplish. Bob was a changed being now; so, too, was Beulah Sands. Both discussed their hopes and fears with a frankness in strange contrast to their former manner. But there was one point on which Bob showed he was holding back. I finally put it to him bluntly: "Bob, are you working out anything that looks like real relief for Miss Sands and her father?"

"I don't know how to answer you, Jim. I can only say I have some ideas, radical ones perhaps, but—well, I am thinking along certain lines."

I saw he was not yet willing to take us into his confidence. We parted, Bob going along in the cab with Miss Sands.

Two days afterward she sent for us both as soon as we got to the office. "I have this telegram from father—it makes me uneasy. Mailed to-day important letter. Answer as soon as you receive it."

The following afternoon the letter came. It showed Judge Sands in a very nervous, uneasy state. He said he had been living a life of daily terror, as some of his friends, for whose estates he was trustee, had been receiving anonymous letters, advising them to look into the judge's trust affairs; that the Reinhart crowd had been using renewed pressure to make him let go all his Seaboard stock, which they wanted to secure at the low prices to which they had depressed it, in order that they might reorganize and carry out the scheme

CANTON FAIR GROUND.

The heavy rain of Monday caused a light attendance at the fair Tuesday. Tuesday morning did not look over much like good fair weather, but it cleared off early enough to start exhibitors for the grounds, also all the show, game, and refreshment men.

Dr. A. L. Stanwood, president and O. M. Richardson, secretary, were early on the grounds and devoted themselves to the work before them with energy and the intelligence required to make things go well and satisfactorily to exhibitors, showmen and spectators.

The midway section was on the lowest part of the grounds and it was quite wet. In some places they were dipping up the water, and in various ways trying to make the ground dry enough to accommodate prospective customers or victims.

The poultry exhibit was complete early in the day, and was one of the big features of the fair.

Poultry. Mrs. Charles Richardson of Canton, had eight cages of poultry—Plymouth Rock fowls being the most numerous. Special features of her exhibit were cages of Golden Seabrights, Bantams, and Silver Spangled Hamburgs.

Geo. L. Grover of Canton exhibited two lots of chickens.

G. H. Virgin of Jay, had a great showing of geese. There were four different breeds in this exhibit. There were also three cages of fowls and chickens.

Bert Dodge had three cages of chickens.

There was a good exhibit of fowls under No. 401, the name of the exhibitor could not be learned.

Cleon E. Fletcher had some fine Buff Cochins on exhibition, also Ralph E. Campbell.

Mrs. C. F. Goding had a notable exhibit of poultry. She had a few chickens, but the big feature was the great white turkeys. Finer specimens of the national bird perhaps were never seen in the State. Several cages of geese completed this exhibit.

Stock. The showing of stock was the great event of Tuesday, and it is doubtful if any feature of the great fair possessed more value as an educational feature.

W. W. Rose of Canton, had 18 head of Jersey cattle on the grounds. His herd had three thoroughbred Jersey bulls. The one to attract most attention was the American Jersey bred at Windmere farm, Gorham, Me., and bearing the noble sounding name of Florian Mella Pogs. A light colored heifer of Hood farm origin, was much admired.

C. A. Bonney of East Sumner, had a herd of sixteen dairy cattle of the Holstein breed. They were notable for their great size. The most distinguished member of this herd was Bonny Prince Paul, the great white bull, that reminded one of the sacred white bull of India. He was an admirable specimen. The yearlings were also worth special mention.

C. A. Richardson of Canton, exhibited a fine herd of Jersey stock. They were of the American Jersey Cattle Club stock, and were very handsome creatures. The bull called Signaling's Golden Henley of pure Isle of Jersey stock was the feature of this herd, which consisted of eight head.

O. E. Turner of North Hartford, exhibited seven head of thoroughbred and eleven head of grade Hereford cattle. A yoke of two year old steers that gifted 6 feet and 4 inches were a notable feature in this herd. A two year old bull was said by good judges to be made up with all the points necessary to a scientifically perfect bull.

Wilson Dearborn of Canton, while only exhibiting a yoke of thoroughbred steers had an attraction that in some ways eclipsed all the rest. The perfect matching of the pair was remarkable. There was but one mark that distinguished one from the other. One had a little white on the neck. The steers gifted four and one half feet.

B. F. Glover of Hartford, had four yoke of oxen on exhibition, and they made the beholder think that the "good old days" when oxen were the chief beasts of burden, and performed all the farmer's work, had returned. After viewing these magnificent creatures one could understand the feeling that still possesses some farmers that oxen are the most desirable for work.

C. C. Russell had a fine yoke of Hereford Oxen. They were well trained.

Moses Young of North Hartford, had fourteen head of oxen. All very good specimens of the bovine creation. One yoke that attracted much attention were 7 feet 10 inches in girth.

HALL EXHIBITS. These came in very slowly and at the time of the report there was only a small part of the expected exhibit.

Fruit and Vegetables. G. H. Virgin of Jay, exhibited 16 varieties of apples.

R. B. Keene, made a special exhibit of potatoes, some of them notable for size.

C. B. Dunton had a good and instructive exhibit of potatoes. It afforded a chance for comparative study of tubers. He had eight varieties displayed as follows:

Allen's Pride, Beauty of Hebron, Six Weeks Variety, Green Mountain, Cow Horn, (purple skin) Early Fortune, Mills 20th Anniversary, Early May.

W. E. Rose exhibited 28 varieties of apples and lots of vegetables.

Mrs. C. E. Richardson of Canton, made a special exhibit of canned maple syrup, also apple jelly and brown bread. All of her own making.

W. L. Libbey of Hartford, placed 30 varieties of apples on the exhibit table and an excellent showing of squash.

The midway had the usual attractions of "hit the image" and "knock down the pins" and "ring the cane," and also the unusual G. H. Irving's show and Cantara's working world. The former is a show of great worth, and conducted by a veteran showman. He exhibited the three legged girl, Mabel Coburn. She is a remarkable girl. She has a third leg well developed. It grows from the left knee. The show also carries the wonderful Birt Litter, the handcuff king and jail breaker.

The great feature of this show was Madam Lebel's mind reader. She performs the most wonderful feats in that line ever seen. Mr. Irving himself conducts the always popular Punch and Judy shows. Mr. Irving is the man who drove the first elephant that was ever exhibited in Maine. It was McGinley's Circus nearly forty years ago. Mr. Irving has been known to the reporter for many years.

The "Working World" is a remarkable mechanically operated set of figures representing life in various phases. The inventor, Mr. Cantara, lives in Biideford, Me., and has exhibited his inventions in the large cities of New England.

The committee on cows and dairy stock was composed of the following well qualified judges: G. E. Barrows, A. H. Alley, and B. D. Packard.

Committee on oxen and steers, was made up of three of the best known farmers in the Androscoggin Valley; C. H. Bonney, O. L. Newell and C. D. Leavitt.

In The Upper Hall.

Hazel M. Marshall, 11 years old made an exhibit of dairy cheese and loaves of brown bread that she made herself. Nettie Marshall exhibited a quilt. Ella M. Walker had a braided rug in the exhibit. Mrs. L. D. Poland had many pieces of fancy work. Mrs. John Manwell put a quilt and other work of her own on exhibition.

One of the prettiest exhibits was that of 8 year old Ruth Richardson, who had a baby frock of her own knitting on the table. Harriette Perry displayed quite a number of fancy articles representing her skill in that line of work.

Among the articles exhibited, Ellen M. Parsons had a very pretty afghan, that attracted much attention.

Mrs. Franklin A. Smith exhibited a knit shawl of great beauty.

Mrs. C. E. Bonney contributed several articles to the hall exhibit.

There were some things in the hall that were not tagged and some were brought in Wednesday too late to be enumerated.

Miss Mattie Hathaway, clerk for the committee in charge of the hall was one of the efficient sort and knows how to do things and when to do them.

About 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon a severe thunder storm broke upon that section accompanied with a heavy wind, and it made the midway folk look as though they had been through a flood. Fortunately no tents were blown down, but water that stood in front of the many tents and booths was anything but pleasing to the eaters.

Owing to the continual rain of Tuesday the track was in such condition that no races were called. One of the incidents of the day was a broken nose carried home by one Frank Andrews; the result of being hit by a base ball.

On Wednesday despite the opening and shutting of the weather, the usual Wednesday's crowd was present, and everything is progressing well as the CITIZEN goes to press. No races have yet been called, hence all other reports will have to be given in our next issue.

REST AND RECUPERATION.

To provide a restful environment without sanatorium restrictions, to enable tired humanity to recuperate naturally, to secure to the average man or woman the needed change from worry and care, and to do these at moderate cost, is the mission of "The Welland," the home of "The St. Catharines Well."

HUGHY HIT THE DODGER THREE TIMES.

The African Dodger was in town last Saturday night. He set up his stand on Congress street, and for an hour or more the fellows pelted the canvas each side of his head. Then along came an expert base ball pitcher who came near putting the show on the bum. He hit the dodger three fair clips on the head and while the effect upon the operator's cranium was not disastrous, the performance bid fair to seriously affect the profits of the exhibition.

The crowd got so large and the noise so great that the police ordered the game to be stopped. The report that they thought the "nigger" would get killed is not true. The man's head is too thick for the ball to hurt. This is not an insinuation that his brains were thick for a man alert enough to dodge the balls that are thrown at him has a quick intellect.

RUMFORD LOCALS.

Mrs. Martin Hamblett of Rumford avenue is suffering from ill health and her mother, Mrs. Gard Coburn of Carthage has arrived to spend a few days with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Darrah are on a visit to Alexandria, Va., where their son John Darrah, is superintendent of an electric light plant.

Mrs. Nettie Howe and daughter, Miss Jessie Howe of Hanover returned home early this week, after visiting friends at Sumner and Rumford Falls.

Mrs. C. F. Boynton, who has been assisting her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Lochhead in moving into her new home on Penobscot street, returned home to Lewiston, Monday.

Mr. F. E. White has accepted a position with the Swift Beef Co. at Woburn, Mass., and has gone there to assume his duties. Mrs. White will join him there in a week or so.

It is understood that Mr. and Mrs. Frank White who have been residents of town for several years, are planning to leave town for the West, and are to dispose of their camp at the Rangeleys.

D. Francisco Angell and Constanio Gollinelli, both of this town, who went to Auburn last week to work on the new Barker Mill dam, were arrested there Tuesday evening by the police for vagrancy, they having lain down near the station to pass the night, not having secured any boarding place. But when the facts were explained in court the cases were continued.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowen Herbert, who were married last week in Salem, Mass., are expecting to make their home in West Gardiner, Mass. Mr. Herbert, who has been for some time a plumber in the Oxford Mill, has secured a good position in Massachusetts. Mrs. Herbert was formerly Miss Mary J. White of York street, this town, who left here three weeks ago for Salem.

The way to get rid of a cold whether it be a "bad cold" or just a little one, is to get it out of your system through the bowels. CATARRH IS CURABLE.

Successful Experiments in Abating and Curing This Disease.

Catarrh is an entirely unnecessary disease and should not be tolerated for a single day and now that Hyomei is so generally known and has made so many cures in Bethel, and other towns. Until comparatively recent times catarrh was thought to be a blood disease and stomach dosing the only treatment. Modern science finally disproved this idea of the cause of catarrh, and found that it was a germ disease and after many experiments, the remedy was decided to be Hyomei.

Hyomei medicates the air you breathe; it kills the catarrhal germs; it heals the smarting and raw membranes of the passages in the throat and nose; it cures all catarrhal troubles.

As there is life and health in the air in the mountain tops where the pine forests give off their fragrant and healing balsams, so there is life and health in breathing Hyomei. There is no need of suffering from catarrh if the simple and natural treatment of Hyomei is used.

So sure is this prescription to cure even the worst cases of catarrh, that the Cote Pharmacy, A. H. Williamson, proprietor, and Nathan Reynolds of Canton, sell it under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

Itch! Itch! Itch!—Scratch! Scratch! Scratch! The more you scratch the worse the itch. Try Doan's Ointment. It cures piles, eczema, any skin itching. All druggists sell it.

A CHANGE IS NEEDED.

Through the long winter one needs a change. Why go South when "The Welland," St. Catharines, offers an environment at moderate cost which will minister to tired nerves and worn out bodies? Try the tonic influence of "The St. Catharines Well" and the restful influence of "The Welland."

Crawford
Cooking-Ranges
What Our NEW TYPE of Range Means

Maintaining the Crawford reputation for progress, we have constructed a new type of range which is better than even our heretofore best. In this new design the useless and awkward End Hearth is omitted. The ashes are disposed of by falling into a HOD far below the fire, which makes their removal easier and the grates to last longer. The Coal and Ash Hods are side by side, of the same size, and the Ash Hod being emptied can be returned full of coal. There is also more room on top of these ranges. The "Palace" is extra large size and the "Castle" smaller.

All the famous Crawford features are present: Single Damper, Patented Grate, Cup-Joint Oven Flues, Asbestos-Backed Oven, Improved Oven Indicator. Send for our booklet.

Made by Walker & Pratt Mfg. Co., 31-33 Union St., Boston

For sale by all leading dealers.
